Summary

I'm on track to complete my Full Stack Web Development course by being accepted through a co-op or industry project but I'm also open to start a paid or voluntary internship apart from the course.

I hope to gain more knowledge and experience with your company, the role advertised seems a good fit for me to apply what I've learned and enhance my skills with projects/tasks provided.

Above is a link to my portfolio which is based off of another developers portfolio that I tried to replicate which briefly displays my abilities as a web developer. Outside of school I also use codecademy.com to learn new languages that aren't provided through school in which have been very helpful in my coding journey.
